

Humility: Putting others first by giving up what you think you deserve

Supplies Needed: Planning materials, technology (if available) with internet capability

Activity: Students will imagine that they are given one million dollars to start a charity that will work using the principles of humility to end a world issue. The charity may not serve the student, instead encourage the students to think about an organization that puts others first even if it does not benefit the student personally. They can utilize ideas from the previous discussion, but are encouraged to be creative and think outside of the box.

Instructions:

1. What world issue will your charity work to resolve?
2. What will be the name of your charity?
3. Give a breakdown of how you will use the million dollars.
4. How will you fundraise so your charity can continue to run after the first million is spent?
